Reds Accuse Allen Dulles

Say He Directed Riots;
U.S. Denies It

Compiled from Cable Dispatches.

The Soviet-controlled East Berlin radio Wednesday charged that Allen Dulles, head of the United States Central Intelligence Agency, went to Berlin to direct the June 17 riots in the Communist sector.

The radio claimed Mr. Dulles—brother of State Secretary Dulles—directed the operation because the Western nations had pinned their hopes on the success of their "agents and provocateurs" in Berlin and East Germany.

It said Mr. Dulles had been seen with high police officials at Potsdam Square, where the Soviet, American and British Sectors meet, on June 17. Nearby was an American staff car with a powerful radio, the radio said.

A United States High Commission spokesman in Berlin said Allen Dulles had not been in Berlin, and in Washington a spokesman at the CIA office said he had not been out of Washington recently.

East German Premier Otto Grotewohl admitted Wednesday night that the riot-scarred Soviet Zone is in the grip of a serious food crisis because of the westward flight of "hundreds of thousands of farmers."

The International News Service said Mr. Grotewohl made a new appeal for the return of refugees now in West Germany.

He spoke to coal miners at Boehlen, Saxony.

Two more East German workers Wednesday were reported shot by Russian firing squads, boosting the total of martial law to 29 executions.
